

Crime & Liveability: Finding & Using Evidence

The third in a series of FREE events being held around the region to identify key issues and support the development of an evidence-based approach to local regeneration & service delivery in a wide range of policy areas.

The workshop will explore the evidence available, identify gaps, showcase practical examples and provide an opportunity to meet and share experiences and ideas with other professionals involved in crime and liveability regeneration and service delivery.

Government Office for the South West (Bristol), 28th November 2005

09:30 Tea/Coffee on arrival

10:00 Introducing SELD, Nick Harrison

10:15 Using crime data for mainstream change,
Sarah Thornton & Olivia Burtchaell, Somerset's Crime & Disorder Reduction Partnerships

Sarah and Olivia will be presenting some excellent examples of how they have analysed and communicated crime data to secure mainstream agency support and partnership collaboration.

10:45 The purpose of Crime Reduction Knowledge...,
Dr Malcolm Cox, Bournemouth & Poole Youth Offending Team

Dr Malcolm Cox who has worked closely with Southampton University on crime and disorder issues relating to young people for the past 20 years will introduce the Five-I's method illustrating how it can be put to good effect with live examples from recent research in Bournemouth & Poole.

11.15 Break

11:30 Mapping Livability, Sarah McMahon, Bristol City Council

Sarah and her team from Bristol's Create Centre who are nationally acclaimed for their work around quality of life indicators and pioneering the Bristol quality of life survey, will be presenting a new method they have developed to map aggregate indicators of liveability at a local level.

12:00 What's out there?, Alistair Gordon, Environment Agency

Alistair who heads up the South West Observatory's Environment Module will present (in his usual engaging style) an overview of the availability of local evidence on quality of life & local environment (including what we know of environmental crime) relating to livability.

12:45 Lunch

13:30 Workshops

15:00 Close

Places are limited, please email nick.harrison@swo.org.uk to book.